PRESIDENTS MESSAGE by Maureen Henderson

Hot days of summer are here and hopefully everyone is able to stay cool and still find time to play with your equine sidekicks. We had a good turnout for our saddle fitting and custom saddle pad talk. Thank you to Ken of Sierra Saddlery and Lisa, of Lisa's Custom Pads for taking the time to come out and talk to us about this very important subject. I don't think there was anyone there who didn't learn something new about how your horse should be fitted for a saddle and, equally important, that you have a good fitting pad to make sure your horse is comfortable when he takes you on those nice long trail rides.

On August 23 we have a Ranch Horse Pleasure Clinic to help prepare those of you who are planning to show in that class at the upcoming horse show (Oct. 10 and 11). Then, on September 20 we will be hosting a horse show prep clinic for members who would like a little insight and help on how to get your horse ready to show. Both of these clinics will be held on Sunday mornings at the Arena. These clinics are free to our members, so take advantage of your membership, bring your horse, and have some fun riding your horse and meeting other members.

The very popular Loomis Basin Equine Vet Tour will be held at the Clinic on September 9, so be sure to mark your calendars. Also, be prepared, the board members are beginning work on the horse show and we will be contacting members to help out. Perhaps if you are riding on only one day of the show, you may be able to volunteer on the other day. So, please keep us in mind for that weekend. If we get enough people to help out for a few hours, it means that others will not have to work long shifts. Any assistance you can render during the show days will be very much appreciated by the board and horse show committee.

Maureen

TRAYLOR RANCH NATURE RESERVE

Traylor Ranch trails are in great shape. they are all mowed. The start thistle which grows this time of year is knocked back. If you come out and walk or ride the trails, bring your blackberry picking buckets. There are some good quantities available. Also, bring your hand pruners and nip any of those long berry branches that reach out to get you as you walk by.

I may cancel the August workday if the trails stay in such good shape. Stay tuned for email notices.

Get out and enjoy.

If you have any questions about Traylor Ranch, don't hesitate reaching out to me.

Alpine Meadows Stables northwest Lake Tahoe area

by Robert H. Sydnor, AERC Trail Master; August 2015

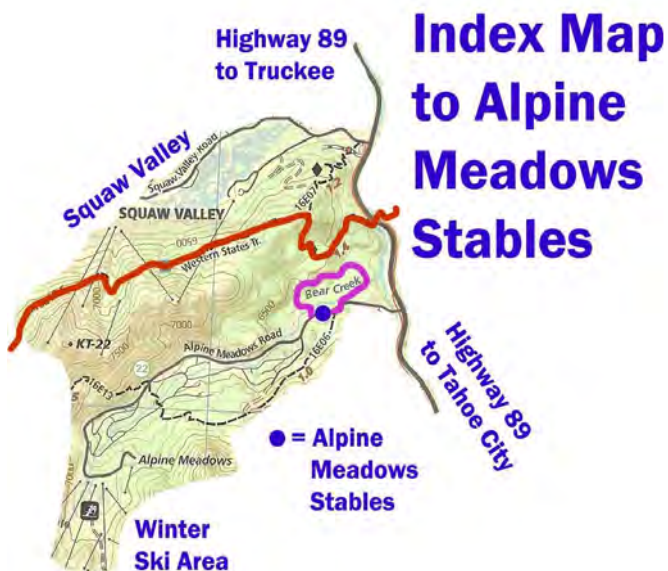

Near Squaw Valley, in Placer County, on the northwest side of Lake Tahoe, along Highway 89, are splendid horse-stables for the public. Guided horse rides are available for families from the city. All of us equestrians have our own horses, but we are often asked by our friends and neighbors where they could ride horses in the Lake Tahoe area during the hot summer months.

A salient point is that young teenage riders are the future; and we (older and veteran) equestrians need to promulgate positive experiences for younger riders: they are the future.

The purpose of this brief report is supply an informative answer, so that young teenage riders from the city have a positive and safe first-time experience with riding horses in the Sierra Nevada range. Therein lies our future. We want to increase the number of young riders.

Happy Young Riders

Alpine Meadows

Index Map to Alpine Meadows Stables

Alpine Meadows Stables are open to the public from late May until early October (depending on the winter snowfall).

Telephone: 530-583-3905 website:

Stable hours are 9:00 AM to 6:00 PM daily.

The owner/operator is Larry Courtney, who has managed these stables since 1967.

All of the rides are guided by experienced riders.

They ride a 3-mile loop (shown in pink) just north of the stables. The drainage is within Bear Creek. There is no additional parking for "other" horse trailers (such as yours and mine); so equestrians need to park elsewhere, such as the Five Lakes Trailhead or the (free) Placer County Park near the entrance to Squaw Valley (adjacent to the flaming Olympic torch).

Tevis Cup Trail and Ride

The Tevis Cup Ride follows a rugged portion of the Western States Trail which stretches from Salt Lake City, Utah, to Sacramento, California.

Beginning at the Robie Equestrian Park (elevation 7,000 feet), south of Truckee, California, the trail descends gradually approximately nine miles to the Truckee River at the Midway Crossing on Highway 89. The trail takes a route through Squaw Valley, the U.S. Olympic training facility and site of the 1960 Winter Olympics, and ascends from the valley floor (elevation 6,200 feet) to Emigrant Pass near Watson's Monument (elevation 8,750 feet), a climb of 2,550 vertical feet in 4½ miles. From the pass, following the trail once used by gold and silver miners during the 1850s and rediscovered by Robert Montgomery Watson in 1929, riders will travel west, ascending another 15,540 feet and descending approximately 22,970 feet before reaching the century-old town of Auburn via the traditional route through Robinson Flat, Last Chance, Deadwood, Michigan Bluff, Foresthill, and Francisco's.

Much of this historic route passes along narrow mountain trails through remote and rugged wilderness territory. Participants who are unfamiliar with this area should use caution when planning training rides with their mounts, especially in the high country and the route out of Foresthill to Francisco's. MUCH OF THIS TERRITORY IS ACCESSIBLE ONLY ON FOOT, ON HORSEBACK, OR BY HELICOPTER. Due to the remoteness and inaccessibility of the trail, the Tevis Cup Ride differs substantially from other organized endurance riding events. Adequate physical training and preparation for both horse and rider are of the utmost importance. The mountains, although beautiful, are relentless in their challenge and unforgiving to the ill-prepared.

From the high mountain divide at Watson's Monument to Hodgson's Cabin is an area that the United States Congress has set aside as wilderness - the Granite Chief Wilderness area. This special area, established by the California Wilderness Act of September 1984, is managed to offer solitude in a pristine and natural setting. Protection of this ecologically sensitive area is of prime importance to all who participate in the annual Tevis ride. Permission to cross the Granite Chief Wilderness Area is granted through a permit from the U.S. Forest Service. In return, they receive important usage data upon which to base management decisions regarding use of the area. This cooperative arrangement between Western States Trail Foundation and the U. S. Forest Service insures that the Tevis event will continue to qualify as an acceptable activity in the Granite Chief Wilderness Area for future years.

Some general rules of conduct for riders and support crews should be kept in mind at all times when using the Granite Chief Wilderness Area. They include:

- Leave no trace of your visit. That is, do not leave behind any litter or refuse. It is every rider's responsibility to keep the trail as clean as it was found. Disturb nothing.
- Stay on the trail. Let other riders pass at wide spots on the trail if at all possible. In this way, you will be minimizing your impact on the fragile ecosystem of the area.
- Be as quiet as possible. Noise also destroys the serenity of the area and should be kept to an absolute minimum.
- No smoking. Absolutely no fires are permitted in the Granite Chief Wilderness Area. By following these simple guidelines, we can all do our part to preserve this special place on the Western States Trail for future generations.
